The background of the text is an abstract artwork. It features a complex composition of colors and textures. On the right side, there are prominent, bright orange and red brushstrokes that resemble a large, stylized figure or a dense thicket of lines. The left side is dominated by dark, moody tones of blue, purple, and black, with some lighter, teal and green areas. The overall effect is one of dynamic energy and layered meaning, typical of contemporary urban or street art influences.

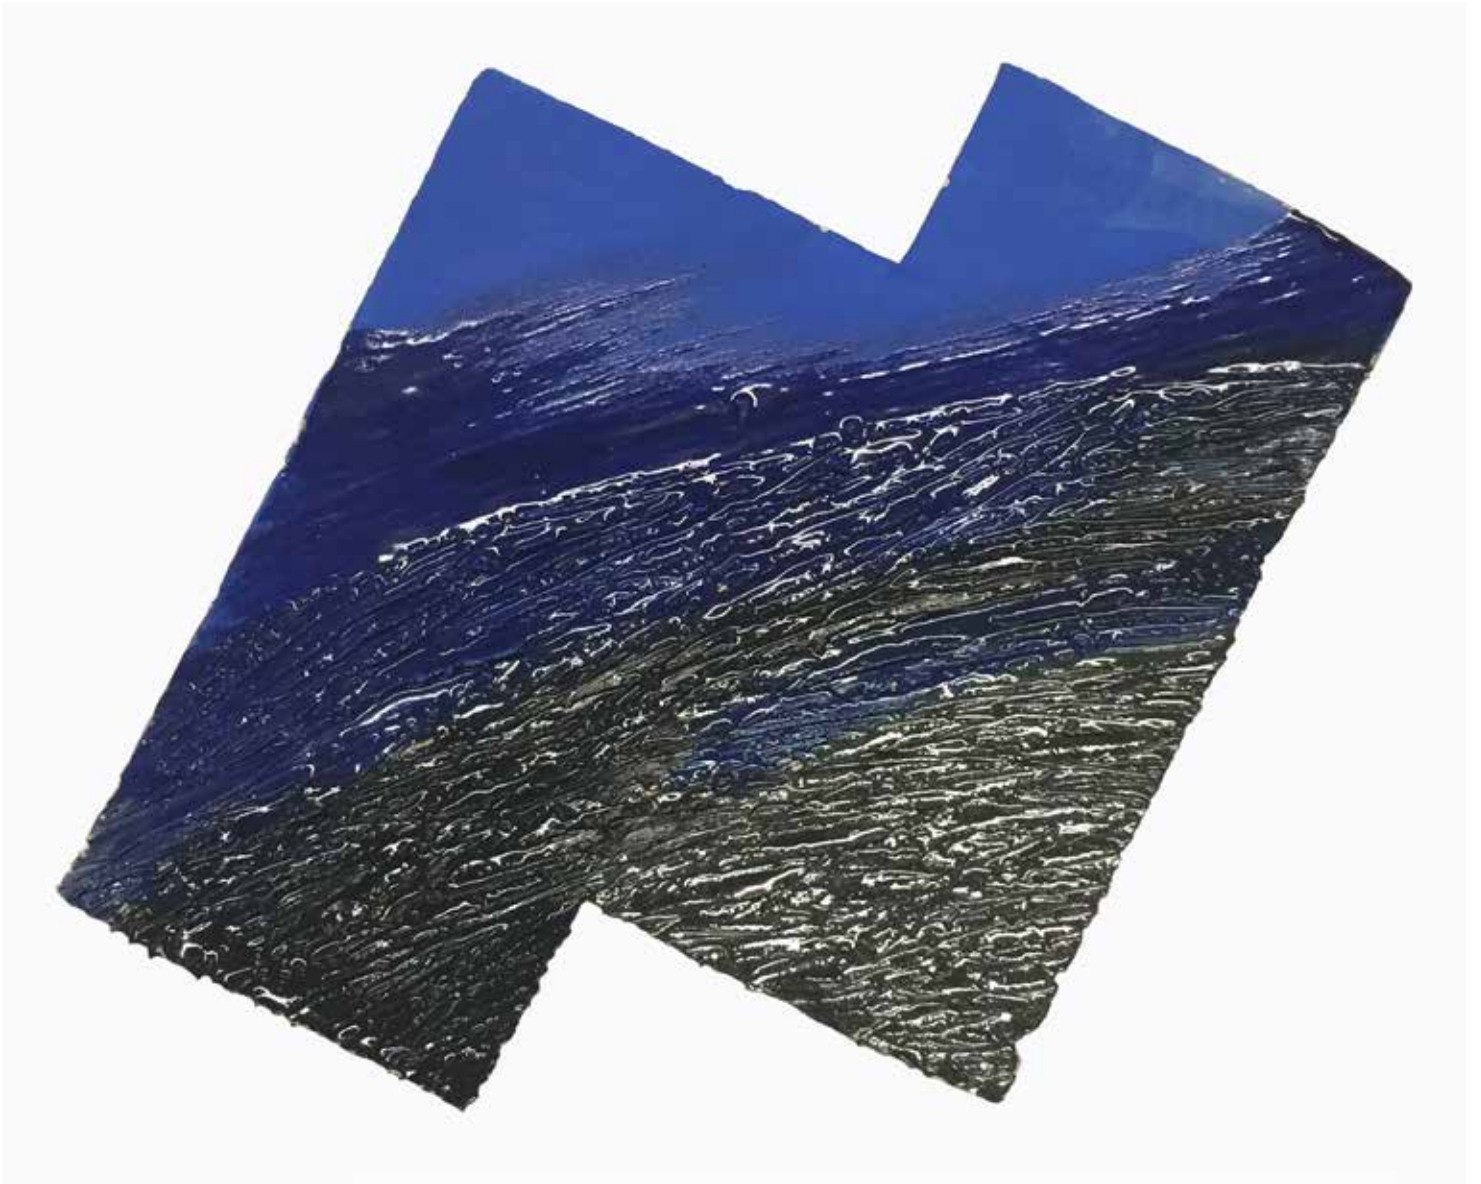

LatchKey Gallery in partnership with Art in America, ArtMoney, ArtNoir and MW Projects is pleased to present A Bronx Tale, an online exhibition and one day private studio exhibition experience featuring the works of Alteronce Gumbly, Dario Calmese, Lucia Hierro, Nate Lewis, Patrick Alston, Stan Squirewell, Tariku Shiferaw and Tiffany Gomez.

The exhibition takes place in a key part of the New York art scene, the South Bronx, where history has shown to be a creative mecca. In a landscape of diverse practices and perspectives, each artist discusses current urgencies in our society that tell the story of our contemporary human condition. From reforming history through collage to highlighting the Other's ordinary object into large scale sculptures, each artist gives an interrelating perspective of our varied narratives.

On October 21st, visitors are welcome to float freely through the two buildings or attend one of the curator-led tours where each will give voice to various themes found in the artists' work.
