

BITNA JUNG

BIO

Bitna Jung (b.1987, Seoul, South Korea) is a multidisciplinary artist who focuses on painting. She has always been fascinated by the innocence of children. As she reflected on herself, she realized that most of an adult's personality, including attachment style, is formed through childhood, especially the relationship with parents. When she saw more diverse children and parents in the United States, this interest grew. She wants as many children as possible to grow up to be adults with healthy hearts and minds who can take good care of themselves. She expresses her narrative through images she took in person, between boundaries of constructivism and abstract expressionism.
